FAMILY PERSPECTIVE In today's Gospel, Jesus was transfigured, revealing His Glory that will overcome His passion and death. The suffering in our own lives and families will also be overcome by the Glory of Jesus. And we will share in that glory!

MARRIAGE MOMENTS Humorists suggest that once couples marry they lose their freedom. True, we are not free to enter into other intimate relationships or to make important decisions based solely on our own desires. The tradeoff is the comfort of being loved unconditionally.

PARENTING POINTERS Parents sometimes feel like success always occurs in private (like a tender bedtime moment) and failure in public (like at the grocery store). If you notice another's child doing something praiseworthy, compliment the child of course, but pass it on to the parent too. Sometimes we need that.

INTERCESSIONS FOR LIFE For those whose selfishness leads them to sin against life: that the grace of God might turn their hearts from the ways of darkness and death and make them disciples of the Gospel of Life. We pray to the Lord:

Intentions for 12NOON Mass are available throughout the Lenten Season. Please call or stop in the Parish Office to have your loved ones remembered.

"Lord, hold our troops in your loving hands. Protect them as they protect us. Bless them and their families for the selfless acts they perform for us in our time of need. We ask this in the name of Jesus. Amen."

STEWARDSHIP REFLECTION

"Do not lay your hand on the boy," said the messenger. "Do not do the least thing to him. I know now how devoted you are to God, since you did not withhold from me your own beloved Son."

(Genesis 22:12)

Abraham was so devoted to God that he was willing to sacrifice his only son. How does our own devotion compare? Do we withhold time, talent, and treasure from the God who sacrificed His only Son for us? -3-

We are happy to announce that Corinne Etienne, Dave Dixon and Adam Powles have been accepted to the Elect and will be admitted to full communion in the Catholic Church at the Easter Vigil.

They will also be celebrating the scrutinies at the 9:00AM Mass on the last three Sundays in Lent.

Change the time on your clock!
Happy Daylight
Savings Time!

Why We Change Our Clocks - In America we all know the saying for Daylight Saving Time: "Fall Back, Spring Ahead," but do you know why we even have Daylight Savings Time? The hours divided between day and night are pretty even the closer you get to the equator; however, the further away you move from the equator, the more (or less) daylight you have during certain times of year. So in order to gain as much daylight as possible for areas that receive less daylight in winter, the clocks are turned back one hour. Sounds simple, right? But where did this brilliant idea come from?

The Original Creator of Daylight Savings Time -

Believe it or not the idea of Daylight Savings was first conceived in 1784 by an American: Benjamin Franklin. Yes, Mr. Franklin was obviously very busy in the 18th century. Franklin knew inventors in Paris who created a new kind of oil lamp, and being the creative types, they were intrigued by his idea. However, it was William Willett, a builder in London, who first advocated Franklin's idea in 1907. Willett wrote a pamphlet, entitled "Waste of Daylight," that proposed advancing the clock by 20 minutes during each Sunday in April, and delaying them by the same amount in September. It's hard enough to remember to change the clocks twice a year, so I can see why they decided not to change them eight times a year.

From Concept to Reality - Over a year later, Robert Pearce introduced a bill in the House of Commons to make it compulsory to adjust the clocks. The bill was drafted in 1909 and introduced in Parliament numerous times, but it was turned down and even mocked. Nothing was done with the bill, and unfortunately Willett later died March 4, 1915.

However the following year - thanks to Britain trying to follow Germany - Britain passed an act that added 80 minutes in four separate increments. Not everyone was happy about it though; for years people opposed the act - even the Royal Meteorological Society insisted that Greenwich Time would still be used to measure the tides. But after years of opposition, Parliament decided (after World War I) that the time set for changing clocks was going to be 2:00 AM on a Sunday.

In 1925, a law was enacted that Daylight Savings Time should begin on the day following the third Saturday in April (or one week earlier if that day was Easter Day). The end date for Daylight Savings Time was set for the day after the first Saturday in October. So there you have it - that's how it all got started.

Does Daylight Savings Time Occur Everywhere?

Daylight Savings Time does not occur everywhere in the world; countries like Japan, India, and China do not observe daylight savings, and even the state of Arizona bucks the trend. However, today most of the United States begins Daylight Saving Time at 2:00 AM on the second Sunday in March, and reverts back to Standard Time on the first Sunday in November. Of course each time zone in America turns their clocks at a different time, but in the European Union all time zones change at the same moment. . . . HOPE . . .

Hope looks for the good in people instead of harping on the worst.

Hope opens doors where despair closes them.

Hope discovers what can be done
instead of grumbling about what cannot.

Hope draws its power from a deep trust in God and the basic goodness of human nature.

Hope [lights a candle] instead of [cursing the darkness].

Hope regards problems, small or large,
as opportunities.

Hope cherishes no illusions,
nor does it yield to cynicism.

Hope sets big goals and is not frustrated
by repeated difficulties or setbacks.

Hope pushes ahead
when it would be easy to quit.

Hope puts up with modest gains, realizing that [the longest journey starts with one step].

Hope accepts misunderstandings as the price for serving the greater good of others.

Hope is a good loser because it has the divine assurance of final victory.
